

David Griffiths

Portfolio Manager, Emerging Markets Debt, Global Sovereign
Stone Harbor Investment Partners

David Griffiths is a portfolio manager for emerging markets debt, global sovereign at Stone Harbor Investment Partners, an investment management affiliate of Virtus Investment Partners.

Prior to joining Stone Harbor in 1993, Mr. Griffiths was a senior portfolio manager, economist, and investment policy committee member for Salomon Brothers Asset Management. His responsibilities included targeted analysis of client portfolios to identify market opportunities and hedging strategies, as well as the analysis and evaluation of alternative asset allocation strategies. Previously, he monitored European economic and interest rate developments for Salomon Brothers Inc. and served as a regular contributor to numerous research publications for international bond market research.

Mr. Griffiths earned a B.A. in economics and statistics from Exeter University. He began working in the investment industry in 1986.